About the University

With a history dating back 175 years, Manchester Metropolitan University has a combination of the traditional and the contemporary that sets it apart and gives it distinct character.

The University for world-class professionals
Manchester Metropolitan University is the largest campus-based undergraduate university in the UK with a total student population of more than 37,000. Our claim is to be the University for world-class professionals with an emphasis on vocational education and employability.

Our campuses
The central Manchester campus is situated close to the city centre. There is also a campus in Cheshire, 36 miles (58 km) from Manchester.

Our Cheshire campus, situated in Crewe, offers a lively, friendly community set in safe and relaxed surroundings. A £70 million campus development programme has just been completed, with brand-new facilities including the Cheshire Contemporary Arts Centre with drama, dance, music and sound recording studios, and a world-class Exercise and Sport Science Centre including state-of-the-art laboratories, sports and fitness facilities and 3G football pitches.

Wide choice of subjects
The University is arranged into eight faculties, each providing specialist learning, teaching and research hubs for students at undergraduate, postgraduate and professional development levels.

The academic faculties are:
• Faculty of Business and Law
• Cheshire Campus
• Faculty of Education
• Faculty of Health, Psychology and Social Care
• Faculty of Humanities, Languages and Social Science
• Faculty of Science and Engineering
• Hollings Faculty
• Manchester School of Art.

Academic and teaching excellence
While studying at Manchester Metropolitan University, you will find teaching and research academics who advise the United Nations on climate change, international prize-winning artists and creators of high performance clothing for explorers and elite athletes.

Our 1,900 academic teaching staff, professors and researchers are experienced professionals who use their links with industry and their experience and knowledge to design courses that will be relevant to you gaining global employment.

Teaching styles
On most courses, your learning will consist of a mixture of formal lectures, seminars, practical classes and tutorials. Lectures are a series of timetabled talks to provide a starting point for a subject, which is then followed up with your own independent study and attendance at seminars. Seminars are usually made up of smaller groups than in lectures, and you have the opportunity to discuss topics in more detail with your tutors and fellow students. On many courses you will also have direct contact time with your tutor in tutorials.

University halls of residence
You’ll find an excellent choice of residential accommodation in our eight university owned, leased and managed partnership residences in Manchester and a further three halls at our Cheshire campus. We offer a choice of both en-suite and non en-suite bedrooms in shared flats and townhouses as well as traditional style halls with bedrooms arranged in a corridor structure. The UK’s Greenest University
Manchester Metropolitan University has had national and international Green Gown Awards for our environmental sustainability initiatives.

Our new £75m Business School and Student Hub has been specially designed to reduce our carbon footprint by using solar panels, natural light, ventilation and rainwater recycling.

The stunning new School of Art building, opened in 2013, and the new Birley building, opened in 2014, integrate environmental sustainability into every aspect of their design: we invite you to a sustainable university with a positive environmental impact.

Every aspect of our operation is considered as we move towards our target of cutting carbon by 50% between 2005 and 2020 by:

- minimising greenhouse gas emissions from our buildings
- using natural resources such as paper more efficiently
- reducing waste
- protecting biodiversity
- cutting the amount of water, gas and electricity we use
- encouraging sustainable travel.

We are working hard to place environmental sustainability at the heart of our courses and curriculum to equip you with the skills and knowledge to live and work sustainably. You will have the chance to work with us on many exciting environmental projects.

We place environmental sustainability as one of our top priorities and believe that teaching and learning are important to inspire and educate the next generation of decision-makers, business leaders and citizens. We aim to equip you with the skills and knowledge to deal with the challenges of climate change.

About our degree courses

Popular subjects

Some of our most popular subject areas from all faculties are featured here.

Accounting and Finance
Whether you want to be able to set up and operate your own business, or pursue a career in a major corporation, our undergraduate courses will give you a valuable insight into the organisation, structure and viability of a business. On graduation you will be well placed to enter the global job market, which offers high earning potential and the ability to develop your career in a variety of exciting directions.

This subject area is taught at our £75 million Business School. This iconic building is an environmentally sustainable, multi-functional venue that combines dynamic teaching and research with first-class conference and event facilities to create a hub for education and business.

On successful completion, some of our degree programmes will enable you to claim the maximum exemption of all nine Foundation papers on ACCA, nine papers from CIMA or the maximum exemption of eight papers if you wish to become an ICAEW Chartered Accountant. Currently, we offer a range of professional and postgraduate programmes that enable you to complete your ACCA or CIMA examinations.

Art and Design
Our degree programmes give you a development opportunity that will enable you to explore your creativity through real projects, professional experience, exhibitions and extended academic projects. Manchester School of Art is one of the largest providers of art and design courses in the UK and has a distinguished 175-year heritage. The School has extensive links with professionals in Manchester and beyond, which will provide you with exciting opportunities for live projects.

As a School of Art student you will have access to an extensive range of workshops which have been renovated and new specialist equipment purchased. This is part of an exciting project that has seen £34 million invested into the School of Art including a brand new building, home to collaborative studio spaces, new workshops, a roof garden and a vertical gallery.

Whichever course you take, you will be taught by specialist staff, many of whom are practising artists and designers. Our recent graduates have gained employment in advertising, design, publishing, television and public sectors.

Biology
Biology is the scientific study of living organisms and covers a wide range of disciplines. Our courses will teach you to think and behave like a scientist and you will benefit from the £49 million investment in new laboratory facilities in our Science and Engineering complex, equipped with high specification laboratories and state-of-the-art research facilities.

Our range of courses will give you a thorough education in all aspects of biology, and typical areas of study include biomolecules and cells, comparative physiology, introductory microbiology, genetics, populations and biodiversity, DNA changes and disease among other topics. Our graduates may go on to develop their careers in a range of subject-specific roles in the biological, pharmaceutical, clinical, medical, public health and other associated industries.
Digital Technology and Multimedia

This subject area will give you a broad understanding of digital technology and multimedia and how to use it to create exciting and interactive content. These skills are much sought after by a range of employers and the knowledge you will gain on our programmes will give you the edge you need in this highly competitive industry.

As a student of our department you will have access to the best facilities and equipment for post-production training including audio post-production, broadcast, CGI and multimedia laboratories and the latest industry-standard software on both Mac and PC platforms.

We offer a range of courses that include, among others, Media Technology, Post Production for Film, TV and CGI, Games Design and Development, and Computer Games Technology.

These are exciting times for digital technology and multimedia students in Manchester as it is home to local initiatives such as the 100Mbps Oxford Road Corridor broadband project, and is within close proximity of the BBC's MediaCityUK, which is attracting key players in the digital media sector along with smaller web design and new media companies to the city.

Fashion

We offer a range of courses at undergraduate and postgraduate level covering the complete fashion supply chain and our fashion courses have a history of producing highly successful graduates. Our award-winning BA (Hons) Fashion degree has in turn produced many award-winning graduates, including Rebecca Thomson who won the first prize Gold Award at Graduate Fashion Week in 2010.

The University houses fashion and textiles equipment of a standard found in industry and our dedicated technical teams and academic staff help students to get the most out of these facilities. Our academic staff are specialist practitioners and researchers and many of them have a wealth of experience of working within the industry.

Graduates of both our creative and business fashion courses find employment in all sectors of the industry from high street chains to independent design houses. Recent graduates are enjoying successful careers around the globe with companies such as Dolce & Gabbana, Viktor & Rolf, Abercrombie & Fitch, Topshop and Puma. The optional placement year, available on some of our courses, also helps students to gain great experience.

“The tutors on our course are all industry experts and event managers themselves, so the course content is very relevant and embedded with real life experiences.”

Aneesa Neelam, UK

Hospitality, Tourism, Nutrition, Food and Events Management

These industries are some of the largest on the planet, and are always in need of skilled graduates. They generate billions of pounds worldwide each year and touch all of our lives at some point. Careers are diverse and studying these subjects could take you to places you have only dreamed of.

We offer a range of courses including Hospitality Management, International Events Management, Human Nutrition and International Tourism Management. Our degree programmes have been designed to provide access to a wide range of career opportunities throughout the hospitality, tourism and events industries.

Recent graduates have gone into careers in the hotel, licensed retail, restaurant, hospitality, travel and tourism and events sectors. All of our undergraduate programmes offer you the opportunity to spend a year working in the industry, making contacts and gaining experience that will give you an advantage when applying for your first graduate position.

Our postgraduate programmes are also very industry focused, giving you many opportunities to interact with professionals, such as working on consultancy projects.
International Relations and Global Communications

This programme will equip you with an understanding of contemporary international relations and of key developments in information and communication technologies (ICTs) and the media. It will also provide you with the knowledge, methods and techniques to engage with and evaluate the interaction between these two areas of study. We live in a communications-filled world where 24-hour news coverage, access to the internet and the use of social media have become normal for millions of people. Global events are instantly reported by the news media and interpreted by them and millions of ordinary citizens. These developments challenge the traditionally secretive practices of international diplomacy and the ability of governments to control information whilst also creating powerful new tools for propaganda. They enhance the importance of cultural or ‘soft’ power in international relations and they have also transformed the nature of warfare.

Our programme aims to provide the skills to progress to higher research programmes, and to offer skills applicable to a range of roles in government, international political, social and economic organizations, NGOs, journalism and globally-oriented businesses.

Mechanical Engineering

You will gain a broad, in-depth understanding of the principles of engineering by studying the design and manufacture of engineering systems, learning practical engineering skills and carrying out a range of laboratory experiments in brand new, state-of-the-art workshops. You will specialise in your own area of interest and have the option to transfer between courses as many of our BEng degrees share a common first year.

Our courses are professionally accredited by both the Institution of Mechanical Engineers and the Institution of Engineering and Technology. Successful completion of an undergraduate programme could take you on to one of our postgraduate courses where you will be given the opportunity to gain excellent work experience on the Formula Student racing car project.

“I chose to study Fashion Design at MMU because it was a good course with good links to the industry, and Manchester is a great city. The new building is really good as we’re around other students from different courses, so it’s a lot more exciting in that sense.”

Rimsha Shahid, Pakistan

The application process
“Everything has been a piece of cake for me and that’s because of INTO Manchester. I was taught independent learning and critical analysis. This is key for when you go to university, it’s a phrase you will hear all the time. I developed important skills that I have used throughout university. It has been a very smooth ride for me at university and it has been thanks to INTO Manchester.”

Rafael Cabrera, Venezuela
“I chose to study Fashion Design at MMU because it was a good course with good links to the industry, and Manchester is a great city. The new building is really good as we’re around other students from different courses, so it’s a lot more exciting in that sense. It’s got a nice, creative vibe about it.”

“The lecturer usually gives us a copy of all of the slides so that we can ask questions, and he then answers these using examples to help make things clearer.”

Citra Rasita Tarigan, Indonesia
A day in the life

International Diploma student Citra Rasita Tarigan from Indonesia talks about a typical day at INTO Manchester.

Morning

7.00am
I wake up at 7.00am and take a shower before having my breakfast. Sometimes my flatmates are around to chat with - three out of four of them are British and the other one is Thai.

8.30am
After I’ve finished my morning routine, I take the 10-minute walk from my halls of residence to the INTO Manchester Study Centre.

I’m studying on the International Diploma in Business Management course, and hope to progress on to a hospitality management course at Manchester Metropolitan University. This semester I am studying Management, Marketing, Statistics, Management Accounting, and English for Academic Purposes.

9.15am
I start my Monday class at 9.15am, which lasts for three hours including a 15 minute break to go to the restroom or get a drink. The lecturer usually gives us a copy of all of the slides so that we can ask questions, and he then answers these using examples to help make things clearer.

Afternoon

12.00pm
After the morning class is over, I have a two-hour break before my next class starts at 2.00pm. I either have my lunch with my friends or get myself something to eat at one of the many supermarkets, restaurants or cafés close to the Centre. Sometimes I go to the Learning Resource Centre and research or finish my homework.

2.00pm
The format for our second class is fairly similar to our morning class, and includes lots of discussions and Q&A sessions. When it’s time to go home, I go with my friends to the supermarket (whichever one we prefer that day) and buy groceries or anything else we need. During the walk we mostly talk about the lectures that day, our homework, and what are we going to do later on.

Evening

5.00pm
I arrive back at my accommodation and have my dinner. After dinner I turn on my laptop and relax by surfing the internet for two or three hours, and then do my homework or read the papers that our lecturer gave out while listening to my favourite songs.

9.00pm
I take a warm and relaxing shower - it always feels great to pamper myself after a long day. Afterwards, I carry on reading books or chat with my friends using the chat apps on my phone, before going to bed.

INTO student support

Choosing to study at INTO Manchester means embarking on a life-changing journey and our extensive support network is there to guide you every step of the way. Whether it’s support with applications, essential information to prepare for arrival, or help settling in to student life, support services are there to help.

Applications
Your first point of contact is likely to be with one of INTO’s education counsellors in your home country. Always happy to help, they recognise the importance of the choices and have in-depth knowledge of the INTO Centre, the University and the courses on offer. They will gladly answer any questions and assist you with the application process.

For further information see page 106.

Students who are under the age of 18
Before the Centre accepts a student younger than 18 years of age, parents must sign a consent form agreeing the outlines of the INTO Under 18 Policy. Relevant forms will be sent to parents and the student with confirmation documents. No student will be accepted at the Centre without completing and returning these forms before the start of the course. All students under 18 are required to live in INTO Manchester accommodation.

During their first week, students under the age of 18 are given a point of contact and the Centre’s code of conduct. At this point the student will be advised on the support they will receive due to their age and explained the rules and safeguards that are put in place for their well-being. During lesson time student attendance is monitored and any absences will be followed up. Outside of class, students are unsupervised but advised to follow the Centre’s code of conduct.

A copy of INTO’s Under 18 Policy is available on request.

Coming to the UK
Once an offer has been accepted, a pre-departure guide containing practical information will be sent out to help prepare you for travelling to the UK, arrival in Manchester and course enrolment.

The guide is also available as a mobile app.

Download the pre-departure guide:
www.intohigher.com/mmu/pdg

Airport pickup service
An airport pickup service from Manchester International Airport is available for an additional charge.

Pastoral care
INTO is dedicated to ensuring total safety and support for students. On arrival, the Student Services team will provide guidance on settling in to student life in Manchester and will remain the first point of contact throughout for any non-academic issues.

Support services offered include:
• a comprehensive orientation programme during your first week
• 24-hour emergency telephone number
• Language Advisers who can help students with a low level of English
• Residential Tutors within student residences
• visa and immigration support, including workshops and individual appointments
• support for students with disabilities*
• student clubs and social programmes.

* Students with disabilities must inform the Centre upon applying for their course of study.
 The social programme’s activities and excursions normally cost £10-£50 each.

Monitored attendance
Good attendance is key to academic success. INTO Manchester expects students to attend all academic sessions. Student attendance is monitored carefully and where attendance is not satisfactory, the Centre has an absence procedure.

The Centre has an additional obligation to report to UK Visas and Immigration any changes that may affect the terms of an international student’s visa, including absence from the programme.

Academic guidance
You are encouraged to explore your personal ambitions in art and design in an open, friendly and supportive atmosphere. You will be assigned a personal tutor, with whom you will meet in small groups or on a one-to-one basis to discuss progress on the course, as well as general approaches to study and ways to develop your portfolio.

We also have an International Progression Manager who will help with your university application.

Assessment
Your progress is monitored continually. Grades from the International Foundation do not count towards your degree but help the University to assess whether you meet the requirements for progression to your chosen degree.

Assessment will be through:
- portfolio review by your personal tutor
- your journal, in which you will show research into and development of your work
- presentations that evaluate your art and design, including your major project
- formal assessment of levels and progress in English.

Module descriptions
Detailed descriptions of the core and specialist modules for the Art and Design pathway are set out below.

Developing Specialist Pathways
This unit will introduce a range of different potential pathways including textiles/fashion, graphics/illustration, fine art painting and sculpture, and interior and 3D Design. Individual and group tutorials will guide you towards the most appropriate pathway to reflect your skills and interests, which will lead to the eventual choice of your degree subject.

English for Academic Study
This unit is designed to provide international students whose first language is not English with the language and study skills needed for effective transfer to UK undergraduate courses in Art and Design and related disciplines. A particular feature of the unit will introduce the student to British life and culture, and explain the expectations involved in the UK Higher Education system.

About our courses

Academic guidance
You will receive support from your tutor on personal and academic issues, including advice on your studies and career plans. We also have an International Progression Manager who will help with your university application.

Assessment
Progress is monitored by continuous assessment of coursework and by the use of class tests.
Assessment will be by:
- coursework (prepared assignments, unit tests, experimental reports, computer use)
- mid-course and end-of-course examinations
- formal assessment of levels and progress in English through NCUK’s English for Academic Purposes (EAP) programme.

Module descriptions
Detailed descriptions of the core and specialist modules for the Science and Engineering pathway are set out below.

Biology
This module takes an evolutionary approach to biology and considers different levels of organisation in living systems. You will study life processes showing fundamental similarities between living things.

Chemistry
This module builds on the fundamental principles of general chemistry to develop concepts of physical, inorganic and organic chemistry. You will develop an appreciation of the social, environmental, economic and technological impact of chemistry on the community.

English for Academic Purposes and Study Skills
The module introduces reading techniques for academic study and the structure and function of academic writing. You will develop skills in writing in English clearly and appropriately, as well as the ability to take part in academic discussion.

The Study Skills element is an essential preparation for university life. It will help you to work in groups, present ideas, manage your time, conduct research, make lecture notes, organise the content of essays and understand how to evaluate your own work.

Further Mathematics
This module is intended for more expert mathematicians and extends into a wide variety of more complex areas of mathematics.

ICT (Information Communication Technologies)
This module will teach you how to use word processing, spreadsheets, databases and presentation software, as well as using the internet, email and virtual learning environment (VLE) software in support of your learning.

Mathematics Part 1
In this module, you will develop a methodical approach to problem-solving using mathematical techniques and theory.

Mathematics Part 2 (for Science)
This module develops mathematical topics that can be applied to the world of science and technology. Your studies will involve calculator-based activities, computer-assisted activities, computer-algebra activities and opportunities for using data handling exercises, including use of MS Excel.

Physics
A wide variety of topics are included of particular relevance to students wishing to pursue a degree in an engineering-related field.

“Studying at INTO Manchester is a privilege for students who want to achieve their dreams. Especially, being around so many international students, it will give you a big advantage in your future.”

About our courses

Module descriptions
Detailed descriptions of the core and specialist modules for the Graduate Diploma are set out below.

English for Academic Purposes
The aim of this module is to provide you with the EAP skills that will prepare you for a postgraduate course at a UK university. Through 10 contact hours per week and an additional two hours tutorial time, you will develop your academic reading, writing and listening skills as well as presentation skills. You will be assessed by authentic, continuous assessment tasks, including a dissertation as well as EAP final exams.

Research Methods
Seven hours of your total contact time per week will be dedicated to Research Methods. These classes will help you to plan a research project, conduct research and write up a dissertation. You will develop strategies for undertaking research projects within your chosen field and you will have the opportunity to explore different approaches to research methods and analysis.

The dissertation will be an independent piece of research, though you will have language support as well as a tutor who will offer clear guidance on planning, content and structure. Your focus will be on a topic of your choice which relates to your future postgraduate course.

Management Studies*
The preparatory term, the Management syllabus is delivered over six timetabled hours per week for 3-term students; in the core and final terms the syllabus is delivered over three timetabled hours per week for 3-term and 2-term students.

In addition to teaching you about business management, the module is designed so that you have the opportunity to develop a range of postgraduate study skills that will help you to succeed at a UK university. The methods of learning and assessment that are introduced in this module will also support the work you do for Research Methods and EAP.

* The Management Studies module is a compulsory module which is not credit bearing.

“I studied Management, Research Methods and English for Academic Purposes. Each of these modules improved my English. I practised how to present, participate in team work, and write assignments and a dissertation. These are all very important and tightly linked to Master’s study in the UK. All of these skills are very practical and can be used in your career development and work life.”

But did you know there are 57 million children globally not enrolled in school?

Parents everywhere share a desire to give their children the best possible start in life but, sadly, a basic education is still beyond the reach of many young people around the world.

As part of our commitment towards learning, INTO has set up INTO Giving, a charity that helps improve both access to and quality of education for young people living in difficult circumstances.

When children go to school and learn, they create opportunities, transforming and empowering their lives and their community.

Donate £25 and help provide the education they deserve.

On your application form you can opt to donate £25 to INTO Giving and INTO will match your funds, increasing the donation to £50. Every penny you donate will go straight to the INTO Giving educational projects.
